III. 短文寫作 40%

It is getting more common for people to contact others through e-mail or instant messages than in person. While some people think it is fast and people can communicate anytime and anywhere they want, others believe such an act prevents us from developing meaningful interpersonal relationships with others. In your opinion, what should be a proper way for people to communicate nowadays? Please write at least 120 words and use specific reasons and examples to support your view.
